

I am a student and can now study and sleep without the constant hassle of telemarketers. It's common to be called two or three times just during a half hour meal. The changes which are being considered will allow many calls to take place again. i feel like we have our lives and privacy back again. Please don't let our home be invaded again!